McFarlane Latter were delighted to be given the opportunity to redesign a Preview theatre and lounge for an international Film Distribution Company in London.

The proposal was to create a new identity and provide new finishes, fittings and furnishings, together with a new bar and audio visual facilities.

The practice developed a modern twist on the 'Art Deco' theme to provide an elegant and comfortable Lounge, with the bar providing a striking feature in glass.

This first phase included the installation of illuminated nosings and warm side lighting, to highlight the refurbished acoustic panels in the main screening room and add some drama to the start of each screening.

McFarlane Latter are proud to announce that all of the furniture was produced within the UK, including the bespoke cushions designed to reflect the client's identity.
